Outline

My Works in TAIP Final Project

1. Outline (Cacoo)

Before we started to make our final project, we firstly made an outline for our project with Cacoo. I was in charge of the part “Influences of Disney on the Society”; I thought of the points and drew the diagram. In addition, I also helped adjust the detail of this Cacoo diagram like the colour of the lines, the size of the images, etc.

2. Comics (Bitstrip)

For the part “Changes of Princesses throughout the Decades,” I created a comic to demonstrate the story of the popular princess Snow White. I used Bitstrip to do it. I made all the materials within the comics and manage the plot according to the original version of the story. Since it is not possible to make the exact patterns of the elements of the story (like the costumes of the characters), I slightly changed the patterns and made it as similar as possible.

Attached is the link of the comic which can also be viewed online:

3. Presentation (Emaze)

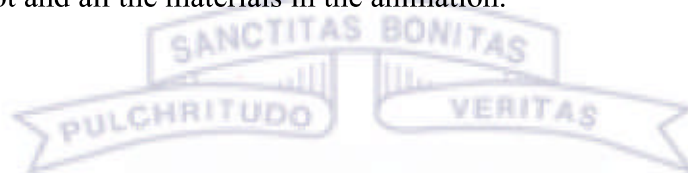

URL: <https://www.emaze.com/@AFIFRRIL/disney-princess-changes>

I and my other partner were responsible to present the part “Changes of Princesses throughout the decades” and we decided to demonstrate this part by using two princesses’ stories and they are Snow White and Elsa from Frozen. I then picked Snow White as my responsibility. In this Emaze slides I was in charge of presenting the introduction, the plot of Snow White and the feature of traditional princess.

4. Short film (Powtoon)

URL: <https://www.powtoon.com/online-presentation/fBnsd8HXcfw/solutions-to-female-stereotype-final/>

To demonstrate the solution to female stereotype, I created an animation via Powtoon. I created the plot and all the materials in the animation.

Weekly Reflections

Week No.	Reflections	Difficulties encountered & solved
W1	It is so exciting to see Bichu again and we miss the time when we had CC class so much! And about this course, I think it is very practical since technology assisted tools and skills can be applied in any fields or any projects nowadays in order to present to people what you have done or what you want to let people know. It is a course different from other theoretical courses like literature; thus I like it!	Not very concentrated
W2	We learn how to make a successful PPT today and the principles, which are useful for our later presentation especially in CC class.	Confused about what to do in class
W3	Today I am absent for the first section because I have to work on the preparation for my radio programme. I am sorry, Bichu :(And today my group have come up the app we will present - Audacity. Actually I have known how to use this app since I was in Junior high school. I hope that my familiarity with this app will help our group work better	X
W4	Today I am absent for the first section AGAIN because I have to record the first episode of my radio programme (the radio has launched this week and the schedule of recording studio is so occupied that I can only use it at this period. I am sorry again, Bichu... And	Feeling dreamy due to sleeping late

	today I feel not good and so tired since my period is visiting me and pounding my stomache and I did not sleep well last night. I just want to lie down quietly all the time. My body is here but my spirit is absent. I cannot focus. But luckily I have finish the EASELLY graphic work at last and already sumitted it on MOODLE. Three-day holiday starts tomorrow. So happy that finally I can have sufficient sleep
W5	In this week's lesson, I understand what Learning Management System (LMS) is about and what the advantages of LMS are. And I also figured out with my group mates some disadvantages of LMS. I realize that actually I have been very familiar with LMS since Year 1 because all of us have been using iCan in order to download learning materials and submit our assignments (and so on). Therefore, I know the effort and effect of LMS quite well and I personally think that it is helpful for our studies as it is ubiquitous and not affected by time; we are able to learn, review and communicate or exchange ideas with teachers or classmates everywhere and anytime once we have internet connection. And I also learn about the symbols or icons of the virtual elements.	X
W6	Firstly I am going to answer the question about theme 3 in Moodle <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. there are 7 levels in it 2. there are 7 types of materials & 	Not familiar with the appearance of Moodle

	activities: links, video, document, unit lesson, powerpoint, cacoo, homework submission 3. edit mode 4. prepare the materials, organize the order of them, and consider how to present them well and effectively Secondly, about the activities that I have set up in Moodle, I have raised a questionnaire about what kind of music teacher and students there listen to frequently, and I have also established a wiki to provide the introduction to Deep House music. Lastly, for my reflection this week, I think I have become more familiar with Moodle much and I found it fun and effective for our self-study. I begin to like this platform. However, I still think the appearance of the website is not that user-friendly and appealing; moreover, I think the design is kind of messy. But maybe it is my problem because I havent been a good friend with her. Anyhow, I do not think that I will use it in the later days after this class a student. So sorry, dear Moodle.
W7	I am sorry that I am absent today because I was working on some tasks and I believe that I had better skip class today in order to finish them on time :(X
W8	Today is the big day that we do our presentation! I was quite nervous because my brain has been easily got	Anxiety in front of ppl

	blank these days and then I can say nothing. And fortunately at last our group completed the task though we might have done not well enough (especially me who explained the tutorial not well). And it was also a pity that we did not have enough time to explain the functions of the app more detailedly and to have classmates practice afterwards in class. But we really enjoyed teaching people the app today! Feel so content! And each of our group members have also learnt new techniques of the app from our own tutorial today (because we did not learn all the things of Audacity but only the part we were responsible to teach). Besides, I learnt a new and funny app (or game?) today called Million Singer. It's fun for gathering. But I think it is quite not practical in our future career because it seems to be just for fun instead of being for work. Anyhow, it is still interesting, and the volunteers who sang today were great! Overall, I had a lot of fun in today's class!
W9	This week I learnt about games for learning and the categories of games. I know that game is a method for kids to learn, but I did not know that games that youngsters and adults play can also help them learn, like League of Legends (LOL) is a kind of fighting and war game but it helps players for better cooperation between limbs and brain. I also enjoyed two groups of presentation. I learnt about the facebook-like platform for learning--edmodo and the vocabulary	X learning game. I think edmodo is quite convenient in a class, but I also wonder whether any school in Taiwan is using it, and whether it would be reported by Facebook for plagiarizing the appearance.

W10	Holiday	X
W11	Holiday	X
W12	This week we work on our cacoo assignments. I think I do the individual work not quite creatively and just simply. I lack of creativeness. But I like to be simple in mindmapping because if it is too decorative and complicated, I feel dizzy and choactic in mind. Anyhow I will try my best revise it again.	Feeling chaotic about the complicated design on Cacoo
W13	I have revised my cacoo individual work and I feel close to Cacoo again due to spending time on it for more than two hours. Even though I prefer Xmind, it is still excellent that it allows many participants to work on one map, just like Google doc. I like it! So effective and efficient. And we have a reading this week and the answers are: (2) The CC license of the passage is on page 10. (3) If I want to use this passage, I can freely use it but I have to indicate the names of the authors(BY), and I cannot make money out of the content of it(NC). (4) The authors do not think that it could solve the copyright problems in which we are not free to use some useful content; however, they believe that this is an alternative for both of the providers to maintain the copyright of the content	X and users to read the content under certain conditions with the combination of traditional copyright law and CC.

W14	I am working hard on the final project with my group mates today. Finally we have our complete outline. It feels like a good start. Hope that we can finish it asap.	X
W15	I have an official leave today for the rehearsal of Senior Play. But I still attend the 2nd section of the class. Today I showed my Bitstrips work which I am in charge of to Bichu. Actually I have been drawing it so hard these nights because it requires me some creativity, skills of drawing and techniques of planning "shooting script" (which I learnt from my shooting class). It's quite a hard job, but I enjoy it so much!! (I thought it a painful job before) I think it is fun because I can express my idea in the image form by using some quite convenient and user-friendly tools and prepared materials; but I can still edit the prepared materials in my own ways, which I think it is so customized and amazing!! I don't have to draw from zero but something prepared in advance, and I can still change the prepared things. This is just one of the best comics maker for the lazies (Me!). Totally love it! Not to mention the funny appearance, gestures and expressions of the characters!	Inability of attending the class due to official leave for Senior Play
W16	We finally started our final project presentation this week. My group mates	X

	and I have had a very tough night last night because we have been so hurried on our work. Yes we have had not very good time management and we love to finish it by the deadline. We thought we could not finish it in time but luckily we do. Today five groups were going to present the works, and we are the fifth group. But time is not enough and only three groups did the presentation. The most impressive group is Kim's group. I think their demonstration of warm-up and techniques of playing basketball and volleyball was so interesting. They use video, gif, and "live broadcast" to do so. I learnt much knowledge from them. Lastly, I feel so nervous about the next week's presentation. Hope we can do it well. God bless.
W17	Our group finally did the presentation of our final project!! We have made much effort on it and finally demonstrate it to the class! I think we did it quite successfully. Overall we used 6 apps, some sources of information, our analysis and some creativity on it. This should pass the benchmark. Bichu told us that we can use it for RP topic. I think we really worked on it as fighting against RR/RP. It took us quite much time and brain cells as well as sleep. Anyway, we succeeded at last. By the way, I think I personally present it not well because I paid so much attention on my script and the computer and did not have eye contact with the audience. I have to improve this in the next time	Anxiety; memorizing and organizing what I was going to present

	presentation!! Otherwise, I cannot be a good speaker who attracts people to hear me. By the way, about our content, I think our topic is kind of the most interesting topic in the class because we talked about something we all know - Disney and told stories with comics (many people love stories). I really hope that our classmates have enjoyed our presentation today. Ok. This is the last reflection for this class. Bye. Will be always missing Bichu's class!
